

Rodger Thompson

A selection of pictures from the "long shop" the first purpose-built production line factory in the world. Also known as "the cathedral" to the workforce. Built by Richard Garret 50yrs before Samuel Colt thought of it!

A boiler and firebox on wheels would be delivered to the main door and pulled through whilst all the fittings were applied, large ones manufactured on the ground floor and lighter parts on the gallery and craned down!
